

Feb 17 REAL PEOPLE REAL SPECIALISTS theupdate

01 IT MUST BE LOVE

In a month that’s dedicated to love, we’re delighted to celebrate the first anniversary of our own partnership. It’s been almost a year since the merger took place, and what a year it’s been! We’re proud to be the only Scottish firm who are members of the International Lawyers Network, and in addition to creating a stronger firm for our clients, we have further expanded and recently welcomed the Lindsays Licensing team into the company. We’d like to take this opportunity to thank all of our clients and colleagues for a fantastic first year as Miller Samuel Hill Brown LLP.

02 INTRODUCING

Fiona Fyfe
Fiona (Fi) Fyfe is a Specialist Paralegal in Licensing Law having worked with both John Batters & Co and Lindsays for over 13 years before joining the Hill Brown Licensing Team in October 2016 and becoming part of the Miller Samuel Hill Brown team a year ago.

Kathleen Stewart
Kathleen qualified as a Specialist Paralegal in Civil Litigation at Strathclyde University and has worked for legal firms in Glasgow and the Cayman Islands. On returning to Glasgow, Kathleen qualified in 2008 as a Licensing Paralegal. She specialises in all aspects of liquor licensing law, the Gambling Act 2005 and the Civic Government (Scotland) Act 1982.

03 AN AWKWARD CONVERSATION WELL WORTH HAVING...

Love may be led by the heart, but there is merit in practicality, too. It’s becoming increasingly common for people to enter into Pre-Nuptial Agreements or have Co-Habitation Agreements drawn up to ensure both parties are protected for the future. Charles Brown, Head of our Family Law department, has written a blog on this subject.

04 THE WORD ON EVERYONE’S LIPS

No, it’s not love sadly but Brexit. As the political process gathers speed there are many uncertainties which lie unanswered, particularly with regards to employment law. This month Stephen Connolly, a Partner in our Employment Department, explores the topic of what the implications of Brexit on UK Employment Law may be. Find out more here.

05 EMPLOYMENT LAW IN SCOTLAND THE HOT TOPICS - SEMINAR ON 25 MAY 2017

Our Partners Marie Macdonald and Stephen Connolly of our award-winning Employment Law team will be delivering an upcoming seminar on some of the hottest topics in employment law in Scotland in 2017. Learn more about the programme of topics here or book your space today by visiting this link.

Protected for the Future

BLOG

Brexit & UK Employment Law

BLOG

Hot Topics!

BLOG

